

New York Interiors

Edited by Angelika Taschen
Taschen, 288 pages, $19.99

If you have ever peeked through a window to see inside a New York apartment, New York Interiors will appeal to your inner design voyeur. The new book captures the eclecticism of Big Apple style with a collection of over 40 interiors, homes of both the glitterati and typical New Yorkers with a flair for design. We love that society maven Brooke Astor's Park Avenue duplex precedes queen of the nightlife Susanne Bartsch's four-room suite in the Chelsea Hotel. You can also take a gander at the home styles of movie star Isabella Rossellini, advertising guru Jay Chiat, Barney New York brain trust Simon Doonan and designer Todd Oldham, to name only a few. The interiors of the not so famous are equally interesting from the Hell's Angel who sleeps next to a coffin in his East Village abode to the glass-enclosed Fifth Avenue penthouse of an investment banker. And, of course, a book about New York interiors wouldn't be complete without a section devoted to weekend houses including Steven Spielberg's East Hampton complex and Alexander Julian's country house in Connecticut, among other to-die-for interiors.