

Paris, rocker Mick and even the Queen are snapped in the act

FLASH PHOTOS

■ NAUGHTY Paris Hilton flashes the flesh for her own camera as she proves she prefers to go commando. But the hot shot is worth a double-take - it is actually a lookalike of the cheeky hotel heiress, 26. This is one of a new series of "snatched celeb snaps" taken by queen of spoofs Alison Jackson, 43. They feature in her new book, Confidential, which imagines what the stars might get up to on the sly. Other

■ by NIGEL PAULEY
"victims" include rocker Sir Mick Jagger, 64, shown hanging out the washing. And the Queen, 81, is seen taking her corgis out for a stroll and popping into a betting shop. Alison said: "We can't get enough of the private lives of celebrities. And people want to believe their imagination, because reality is incredibly disappointing!"

nigel.pauley@dailystar.co.uk

● Alison Jackson: Confidential is out now, published by Taschen at £24.99. For full details, see www.taschen.com

■ LOOKS FAMILIAR: Paris strikes a saucy pose while, below, the Queen ponders a wager and Mick gets stuck into the laundry

