

New Paris Interiors
Edited by Angelika Taschen, $75, Taschen

Sometimes it's nice just to let the mind wander; to imagine a life lived elsewhere for a while. This book takes you away. I went from a quiet lunch in a glass-enclosed patio surrounded by books and greenery to a party with friends on a mezzanine presented like a painter's studio, all in a matter of minutes. New Paris Interiors is a 300-page coffee table book featuring some of the most beautiful homes in Paris. It's a feast for the eyes – each page rich with colour, texture and flair. Although predominantly illustrations, the book provides blocks of information about the designs in English, French and German. Architect India Mahdavi, French Vogue editor-in-chief Carine Roitfeld, and fashion designer Rick Owens are just some of the interesting personalities who have opened their doors for this remarkable collection of modern Parisian interiors.
