

ROGUE

INSIDE THIS MONTH

CREAM TEESE

loaded fave Dita Von Teese is the star of a spiffing new book about the sexiness of women's feet. Way toe go!

Words Daubs Photos Ed Fox

We've long been fans of burlesque queen Dita Von Teese at loaded. We were the first men's mag on earth to plonk her on the cover and we once convinced loaded top brass to fly her over to perform nude in a giant Martini glass.

Now Dita's back, this time posing in a glossy new book called Ed Fox, by, erm, Ed Fox. His passion in life isn't flood relief in Burma, but lasses' feet.

Says Foxy: "The most tempting part of a woman's body is her feet. Feet are a woman's second body, the one I can visually enjoy without her being offended or even aware.

"The perfect foot should look like a water slide with all the twists and curves. One I could slide down with my arms straight out like a happy young boy." We think it's fair to say Foxy likes his feet. Enjoy! ■ loaded

Ed Fox: Glamour from the Ground Up is published by TASCHEN, priced £24.99 (hardback with DVD) and is available from all good bookshops or at www.taschen.com.

014 loaded.com

