

Architecture Now! 5

By Philip Jodidio, $90, Taschen

The fifth instalment of Architecture Now promises to be inspirational as much as anything. With the Architecture Now series functioning as an ongoing project to document the work of the most influential and innovative architects worldwide, this edition includes a number of designers for the first time, unifying design and architecture in the same manner that these two elements tend to influence each other in life. With a comprehensive section on landscape architecture, the book is easy to navigate and the glossy images and illustrations even easier on the eye.
