

Don't get too racy, Spacey

OOH, I say! What's caught the eye of Kevin Spacey during a late-night walk through Soho: The actor, 49, looked transfixed by a title in a bookshop window — so much so that he had to be pulled away by his pal, with whom he had been drinking at The Groucho Club. The title of the hardback? We suggest you just cast your eyes to the right.

It's just pants: the book that caught Spacey's eye

Move along, nothing to see here: a pal's hand pulls Kevin away from window

By Alistair Foster (alistair.foster@thelondonlite.co.uk), Lucretia Munro (lucretia@thelondonlite.co.uk)

8 Wednesday, 18 March 2009 London Lite