

MONUMENTAL

We thought we were lucky enough to have her Maggie's Centre in Fife. Now, with the Riverside Museum due to open in Glasgow in 2011, Zaha Hadid seems to be adding a strong Scottish element to her world-class portfolio. Much more can be seen in a newly published, awe-inspiring book, which examines all of the Iraqi-born firebrand's radical builds, along with her furniture and interiors projects.

Hadid: Complete Works, 1979-2009 (Taschen, £100, hardcover),
