

D&AD Annual goes on sale

The 2009 D&AD Annual is to go on general sale in bookshops after the organisation agreed a deal with the publishing company Taschen. The book, which will include all the yellow and black Pencil winners from the 2009 D&AD Awards, will be designed by Jeremy Leslie and is set to go on sale to the public in early 2010. D&AD members will receive a separate limited-edition book, designed by Peter Saville, which will be launched at the London Design Festival later this month.