

Pretty Much Everything

Books December 27th, 2011

You don't have to tune into “New Year’s Rockin’ Eve with Ryan Seacrest” to ring in the New Year with Lady Gaga. She—along with a host of other exotic characters—is featured in Pretty Much Everything, a beautifully bound book from Taschen that showcases the collaborative work of two amazing Dutch artists, the fashion photographers Inez van Lamsweerde and Vinoodh Matadin. Enigmatic and genre-defying, their work is influenced by everything from Surrealism, fantasy, montage, and image manipulation to Pop Art, eroticism, and the Gothic. Three volumes are packaged in a single slipcase that you should definitely leave out on your coffee table—they make great cocktail party perusing.
