Modern Homes Become Architectural Innovators

Capturing the development of the modern architectural landscape, Taschen releases a new coffee table book featuring the most innovative private residences around the world from the last decade. The extraordinary homes defy the cookie-cutter houses of suburbia, and shift our perspective on what makes a building a home. The manipulation of conventional space is astounding when a huge glass door becomes also a window, asymmetrical bookshelves line the wall or a wooden bridge leads to a house in the jungle. This fascinating publication comes in two volumes and is available for \$60.
