

Jazz Covers – LP Designs from the 1940s to 1990s

24 April 2012, 11.00 | Posted in Books & Magazines, Design, Music | No comments »

Taschen have put together this new edition of Jazz Covers, a sizeable volume of exceptional Jazz LP covers dating back to the 40s. The kind of vinyl you buy purely for the cover, this brings together hundreds of designs across two books, with an emphasis on the colourful midcentury atomic style graphics that covered everything from food packaging to cushion covers. Helpfully, each record is accompanied by its illustrator's name, photographer, label etc, so plenty of hard info to geek out on.

Taschen have also included "special features for jazz lovers include a top-10 favorite records list by leading jazz DJs such as King Britt, Michael McFadden, Gilles Peterson, Andre Torres, and Rainer Trüby, as well as interviews with legendary jazz personalities Rudy Van Gelder, Fred Cohen and Ashley Kahn." Even if jazzing out in a leather recliner and cashmere sweater isn't your thing, this is an incredible overview of design through the decades.

Available in May from Amazon.

