Never-before-seen pics of Marilyn Monroe – 'Marilyn & Me' author Larry Schiller shares his stories

Marilyn Monroe would be 86 years old today if she had survived the drug overdose that took her life. A photographer saw her the day before she died. Just months earlier he took some iconic swimming pool shots.

In honor of the anniversary, author Larry Schiller is opening up his archives including never-before-seen photos of the actress on display at an exhibit in New York. The photos are also published in two new books called "Marilyn and Me."

Lawrence Schiller talks with Soledad this morning on "Starting Point" and shares some of his stories of working with the iconic actress.
