If you're looking for a comprehensive guide to the works of the world-renowned industrial designer Marc Newson, TASCHEN has a 600-page tome signed by the man himself with your name on it. Hailing from Australia, Newsome has designed everything from chairs, restaurants, stores, and cars to planes and even a spaceship and he currently holds the record as the designer of the most expensive piece of furniture ever sold, ringing in at just over $2 million. Compiled and authored by Alison Castle, this encyclopedia-style bible of Newson's lifeworks is arranged chronologically by category and features in-depth case studies into some of the most famous of his works, including the the Kelvin40 plane, Qantas Airbus A380, Gagolian art editions, Ford 021C, Ikepod watches, and the Aquariva boat. In short, this book leaves no stone unturned in celebrating his works to-date. TASCHEN has published only 1,100 copies of the book, including 100 special leather-bound editions selling for $6,000 and 1,000 linen-covered for $1,000 each. All are individually numbered and signed and can be purchase directly from the TASCHEN online store.
